From the director's desk...

Hello Hesston! We are breezing our way in to cold weather and warm activities here at HRCE. You'll find many of the activities you love, and much more in this edition of the winter catalog.

We had a great fall watching kids score goals, touchdowns and serve aces. We also enjoyed seeing kids make banana bread, learn first aid, and play some pickleball.

Shoot, even the adults had some fun making barn quilts and learning about succulents. To say the least, we loved seeing you enjoy these activities.

As you bundle up for the cold there are some new offerings you may enjoy. Check out our new tumbling camp for kids. They will learn some basic tumbling skills and get to show them off halftime of a basketball game.

Adults can enjoy a photography class taught by the talented Pam Weaver! Dive in with Hesston PD to learn how to conduct an investigation. Don't miss your opportunity for these events as slots fill up quickly.

Thank you for your constant support of HRCE. We hope to see you at this year's NYE Mic Drop with plenty of entertainment for all including a comedic juggler from Idaho!

Check us out on Facebook, and visit our website at www.hrce.org to see all of our happenings at HRCE!
